STANLEY TAKES PLEDGE AND BARS LIQUOR FROM EXECUTIVE MANSION

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 6.—Governor-elect A. O. Stanley has made a public pledge that during his term of office as Chief Executive of Kentucky he will be a total abstainer from the use of alcoholic stimulants, himself, and will bar all such liquors from the Governor's Mansion at Frankfort.

This announcement was made at the Warren Memorial church in Louisville yesterday afternoon by Dr. Aquila Webb, pastor. The occasion was the mass meeting under the auspices of the International Peace Forum. About 600 men and women were present.

In opening the meeting Dr. Webb announced that he had been authorized by Mr. Stanley to make an important announcement to the meeting. This announcement, the minister continued, would be one of interest to all the people of Kentucky.

"Mr. Stanley has authorized me to tell you," Dr. Webb said, "that while he is Governor of Kentucky not one drop of intoxicating liquor shall be admitted to the Executive Mansion, nor served at any dinner given by the Governor, and that he, himself, will be a total abstainer during his term of office."

The people of Kentucky, Dr. Webb said in concluding his announcement, have reason to congratulate themselves on the stand taken by the incoming Executive. The audience received the announcement with hearty applause.

Cattle and Hog Market Lower.

The unusually large runs and the heavy receipts at the Bourbon Stock Yards Monday brought the prices of cattle down from the high level of last week 25c to 50c, and the best steers brought but $7.75, the top price being registered for a lot of seven head of prime kinds, weighing 1,380 pounds.

A heavy run of hogs, with a most unusually large supply of pigs, forced the local hog market off 15 cents on tops roughs, 35 cents on lights and 50 cents on pigs. Markets all over the country reported heavy supplies of the swine. Prices were 5c to 25c lower. Tops selling for $6.60.

In California.

Dear Mr. Babbage: I am in California, far from home. I left Kentucky September 13, 1915, a child of God and I still remain his child.

I do not find the West like old Kentucky and Breckenridge county, but I don't intend to stay in California all my life. I have many friends at Webster, Ky., and I think they miss me in the church there anyway, for I was a regular member when I lived there.

Please send me the Breckenridge News to Bonita, California.

Yours truly,
H. F. HULTZ,
Bonita, Cal.

VON MOLTKE DENIES RUMORS

Danish Portion of Schleswig-Holstein Not to Be Restored.

London, Nov. 29.—A Central News dispatch from Copenhagen states that the Royal Prussian president of Schleswig-Holstein, Herr von Moltke, issued an official statement to the effect that the prevalent rumors that the Danish portion of Schleswig-Holstein will be restored to Denmark after the war are unfounded.

Herr von Moltke declares that the report is being spread by persons banking upon the victory of the allies, and is sufficient to point to the present position of the military operations. He regards the attitude of the imperial government toward Denmark to be that it will be unjust to the dignity and political foresight of Denmark to suppose it would permit itself to be led from neutrality by hope of reward promised from outside.

DAMAGE VERDICT REVERSED

Court Holds Beneficiary of $13,250 Went Too Far.

Frankfort, Ky. (Special): A verdict of $13,250 given W. E. Henry, a brakeman, in the Bourbon circuit court against the Louisville & Nashville was reversed by the court of appeals in an opinion by Judge Turner.

Henry was struck and injured by the cable attached to a plow used in dumping dirt cars. He failed to allege in his pleading that his senses of taste and smell were impaired by the injury, but was allowed to testify to that fact, and the court of appeals held that, as the impairment of these senses is a serious defect, the evidence of it might have enhanced the verdict, and for error in permitting this testimony to go to the jury the case was reversed with leave for Henry to amend his petition and make the evidence competent.

PANIC IN EASTERN COAL MINE

Thirty Men Caught in Boomer, W. Va. Shaft.

Charleston, W. Va. (Special): A blow-out shot in the mine of the Boomer Coal and Coke company, at Boomer, set fire to the mine and caused a panic among the miners, mostly Italians, employed in one of the main tunnels.

All the men, except twenty-five to thirty, employed at the extreme rear end of the No. 2 mine, ran out through the smoke. It is said there is an exit near where the men are imprisoned. Several dead mules were found near the mouth of No. 2 tunnel.

An exploring party entered the drift. More than 225 men were at work when the explosion occurred.

Banker Secretly Married.

Covington, Ky. (Special): Ernest George, thirty-four years old, a banker of Boston, Mass., and Madeline Keyser, twenty-six, of Los Angeles, were secretly married here. The bridegroom is a Harvard graduate and a member of the Harvard Club of New York, and the Union Boat Club of Boston. He is prominent in banking circles.

Power Plant Expands.

Whitesburg, Ky. (Special): The Kentucky River Power company, building a large central power station at Glomawr, immediately above Hazard, has increased its capital from $150,000 to $200,000. It is the purpose of the company to supply all the adjacent mining plants. Transmission lines are being built connecting with them.

Woman Loses Car Suit.

Louisville, Ky. (Special): A jury in Judge Gordon's court returned a verdict in favor of the Louisville Railway company in a case in which Louise B. Allen sought to recover $5,000 damages. The plaintiff alleged she fell through a defective step on a street car in alighting at Preston street and Broadway July 15 last.

Shooting Proves Fatal.

Whitesburg, Ky. (Special): Policeman Ed Boggs, one of the first men to fall in the riot in the Dunham section of the Jenkins coal fields, in which four others were wounded, died in Jenkins hospital. Policeman John Boggs of Hazard, has a chance to recover, according to physicians, but it is believed Jack Howard will die.

SPLENDID GRAND OPERA EVENT FOR LOUISVILLE

What will unquestionably constitute the most interesting and important musical event of the season in Louisville will occur during the week of December 13th, at Macauleys Theatre, when the Kosair Temple (Shriners) of that city will bring there, for a repertoire of eight great operas, the famous San Carlo Grand Opera Company numbering one hundred and twenty members. Some twenty of the world's foremost opera stars will be heard, together with a superb singing chorus and a complete grand opera orchestra. The performances, all different and sung by three separate and distinct casts, will be staged upon a scale of metropolitan excellence, and directed by two world-famous maesters, the Chevalier Fulgenzio Guerrieri, of Italy, and Signor Giuseppe Angelini, former director of the Melba Grand Opera Company.

Among the new stars of the company to be heard during the Louisville opera festival are Senor Manuel Salazar, the premier tenor of Spain, now making his initial visit to the United States. His debut at Boston won him a great ovation, Mme. Sophie Charlebois, the American lyric soprano, for the past five years in Italy, will come. Mme. Stella DeMette, new French mezzo, is another, and patrons of the operas will hear one of the most distinguished basses, Signor Pietro Di-Biasi, former star of the original Boston Opera.

The Kosair Temple will unquestionably make of the opera event the society and musical event of the season, and have arranged with the San Carlo managers for the following attractive repertoire: Monday, December 13: Verdi's spectacular opera Aida; Tuesday: Rigoletto; Wednesday Mat.: Faust, (complete in 5 acts); Evening: Lucia; Thursday: Double Bill—Cavalleria Rusticana and Pagliacci, (with two separate casts); Friday: La Traviata, (Camille); Saturday Mat.: Tales of Hoffman; Evening: Il Trovatore.

A scale of popular prices has been arranged for the engagement.

Col. Applegate, of Owensboro, Returns From the East.

Hon. Cary L. Applegate, of Owensboro, chairman of Board of Grand Trustees of Elks, was a passenger on the Henderson Route Friday returning from Baltimore, where he arranged for the Grand Lodge Elks' meeting in 1916.

While East he was pleasantly entertained by several friends formerly of Owensboro. He takes delight in telling Mr. Babbage a hunting story of Singleton Sweeney's experience in Virginia. He said Mr. Sweeney made extensive preparations for a hunting trip and spared no expense in getting ready for the sport. After traveling many miles Mr. Sweeney looked in his automobile and discovered that he had left his gun at home.

Col. Applegate was accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Clark Applegate, of New York, who will visit at his home in Owensboro, until Mr. Applegate returns from a trip to Cuba.

Brown's Restaurant Closed.

S. J. Brown, proprietor of Brown's Sanitary Restaurant, made an assignment Saturday for the benefit of his creditors. His exact liabilities are not known at this time, but they will amount to several hundred dollars, due out of town creditors. His assets consists of the stock of goods and fixtures now in the building just closed.

The Breckenridge News regrets to hear of Mr. Brown's failure, as he had the most up to date restaurant in the city, and was very popular among his patrons.

The Bank of Hardinsburg & Trust Co. was named as the assignee, with V. G. Babbage acting as the local attorney.

Mr. Taylor Dead.

Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Brite were at Maceo last week to attend the funeral of Geo. E. Taylor, who died Monday, November 30. Mr. Taylor was a brother-in-law of Mrs. Brite. He was 59 years old and a prominent, well to do citizen and farmer of that section. He leaves a wife, two sons and a little daughter.

Curtis Ryan went to Louisville Thursday to return home with his son-in-law, Frank Sanders, who was operated on at St. Joseph's Infirmary.

Pleasant Meeting in California Homes.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bowmer had the pleasure of seeing several former Cloverport people during their visit to California. At Los Angeles they met those at the home of Mrs. B. H. Reidel, at 622, West 35 Street, Mr. John Vest and his mother, Mrs. Nanette Vest, at 2355 W. 24th Street. They visited their nephews and nieces, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Campbell, and Mr. and Mrs. Victor Bowmer. In Dallas, Texas, they were the guests of Mrs. Bowmer's brother, Mr. William Sterrett and Mrs. Sterrett. The former Kentuckians all expressed a deep interest in their old home and many of their friends in Cloverport were glad to receive kind messages from them.

Death Claims Infant.

On December 1 death entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ballman and claimed as his reward "the light of the household, the youngest there"—little Clara Cecilia, aged five months and one day.

Baby, like an early flower,
Drooped, and lost its bright, sweet bloom,
Passed away in childhood's hour
To the cold and silent tomb.

There we laid her little body,
But her spirit gone to God
Bright and pure, unspotted, holy,
Singing praises to her God.

When we gather 'round the hearthstone
As the shades of evening fall,
How we miss the little darling!
Who has gone beyond recall.

ALLIES WORRIED OVER THE DELAY

Greece Withholding Definite Reply to Latest Note.

NEGOTIATIONS STILL DRAG ON

Attitude of Roumania Also Remains Undecided—Tentative and Bulgars Rounding Up Serb Detachments. Defeat of British in Mesopotamia a Disappointment to London—Operations On Battle Fronts.

London, Dec. 6.—Late advices from the near east state that negotiations between Greece and the allied powers still drag on at Athens, new hitches seemingly arising as the old ones are smoothed out.

The people of the allied countries, particularly those of France and Italy, are becoming impatient over the continual delays, and the press is demanding that stern action be taken to demonstrate to King Constantine and his ministers the determination of the quadruple entente to secure the assurances demanded. New proposals are said to have been made by France and Great Britain in the hope of reaching an agreement.

The attitude of Roumania also remains undecided. Since the dispatch announcing the closing of Roumanian ports to foreign trade was received, silence has descended upon Bucharest, and Europe is awaiting anxiously the next move, which will give a meaning to the order. The general belief here is that the Roumanian government is waiting for the concentration of a sufficient Russian force in Bessarabia and a large enough Anglo-French army in southern Serbia to make victory certain before joining the allies.

Meanwhile the Austro-Germans and Bulgarians continue rounding up the few Serbian troops remaining in Serbia and also are prosecuting with their usual energy the campaign against Montenegro.

An official statement issued by the French war office indicates that the allied troops in southern Serbia are continuing to hold their own against the onrush of the Bulgarians sweeping southward and to the southeast since the fall of Monastir.

Unusual calm prevails on the various battle fronts, even the Italians apparently slackening their offensive, probably in preparation for the next phase, which they hope will place Gorizia in their hands.

The check suffered by General Townsend in Mesopotamia is a severe disappointment to the British public, which had looked upon this expedition as the brightest spot thus far in the war. Nothing has been heard from General Townsend since he reached Kut-el-Amara, where it is likely he will make a stand, as the position is a very strong one.

ECHOES FROM CANNELTON

Cannelton Happenings Always Interest Our Readers.

After reading of so many people in our town who have been cured by Doan's Kidney Pills, the question naturally arises: "Is this medicine equally successful in our neighboring towns?" The generous statement of this Cannelton resident leaves no room for doubt on this point.

Mrs. Lotus Hoover, Eighth street, Cannelton, Ind., says: "My kidneys were disordered for a long time, before I knew exactly what was the matter with me. My limbs were stiff and sore and I often had sharp, shooting pains across the small of my back. I suffered a great deal from headaches and dizzy spells. I finally used Doan's Kidney Pills and after I had finished three boxes, I was entirely cured." (Statement given March 15, 1910)

Over two years later Mrs. Hoover said: "I gladly confirm the public statement I gave before in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills. I always recommend this medicine when I have the opportunity."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Hoover had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

HUNDREDS KILLED

Big Ammunition Plant in Halle, Germany, Blown Up.

London, Dec. 6.—A series of explosions destroyed the big ammunition works in Halle, on the Seale, Prussian Saxony, killing several hundred persons. The cause of the disaster is attributed in reports from Kolding, Denmark, to a plot of discontented workmen, who are said to have blown up the munitions factory. It is indicated that the catastrophe is the worst of its kind that has taken place in any of the countries at war since the present conflict began.

HELD FOR $28,000 FRAUD

George Homer Boyd Arrested on Charge of Laporte, Ind. Bank.

Chicago, Dec. 6.—A search for George Homer Boyd of Laporte, Ind., secretary of the Phee Engineering and Construction company of Chicago, ended prosaically when detectives arrested him at Ashland and Grace streets here just as rumor was promising an exciting chase to Honduras. Boyd was taken into custody on complaint of Arthur A. Newton, vice president of the First National bank of Chicago, who charged that he obtained a loan of $28,000 from the bank by misrepresentations. The affairs of the engineering company are in litigation and Boyd has been sought for several days.

"I was acting for the company," said Boyd. "My position in making the loan was that of a messenger boy. I merely went at the instructions of the corporation, made the statements I was told to present and secured the loan. The entire amount was turned into the corporation coffers."

A Chemist's Discovery.

B. A. Thomas, a retired chemist of Kentucky, like all Kentuckians, kept some fine horses. His neighbors noticed that his horses were slick and shining in the Spring before other horses began to shed. He told them of some powders that he fed his horses. He gave them some of it and now B. A. Thomas' Stock Remedy is known all over Kentucky by horsemen and farmers, who take pride in horses or cows or sheep. We sell it on the Money Back basis. Hamburg Line Officials Convicted.

New York, Dec. 3.—In the United States district court here a verdict of "guilty as charged in two indictments" was returned by the federal jury which, since a week ago last Monday, has been hearing the testimony of the government's charges made against the Hamburg-American line itself, Dr. Karl Buehn, head of the line, and the other Hamburg-American men, that they had conspired to defraud the United States before and after the war was declared by falsely obtaining clearance papers for a fleet of supply ships sent out by the defendants to coal and provision German warships at sea.

Reasons Actuating the United States
In Its Demand For Recall of Captains Boy-Ed and Von Papen Not Likely to Be Made Public—Arrest
In San Francisco in Alleged Munition Plot.

Washington, Dec. 6.—Disclosures as to the relations between agents of the German government and labor's national peace council, an organization which conducted an extensive propaganda for an embargo on munition exports, are expected from an investigation being carried on by the department of justice. It is understood that the department will lay before the federal grand jury at New York evidence intended to support a charge that this organization was financed by German agents, and that its propaganda was part and parcel of those pro-German movements which have had so many ramifications in the past several months.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, repudiated labor's peace council in the name of organized labor and some of its officers began to resign. Representative Buchanan himself finally retired from the presidency and little has been heard of it since.

It is reported that subpoenas already have been issued for C. M. Ca-node, a printer; William F. Kramer of the International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths, both of Chicago, and for two other officials of the organization.

Agents of the government who have been most active in securing the evidence upon which was based the demand for the recall of the German military and naval attaches, respectively, Captain Boy-Ed and Captain Von Papen, do not believe that the reasons actuating the United States
in this matter will ever be made public. It is felt here that their removal from this country by Germany will follow in a very short time, and that no action will be taken by Germany

Why You Should Use Chamber- lain's Cough Remedy.

Because it has an established reputation won by its good works.
Because it is most esteemed by those who have used it for many years, as occasion required, and are best acquainted with its good qualities.
Because it loosens and relieves a cold and aids nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition.
Because it does not contain opium or any other narcotic.
Because it is in the reach of all. It only costs a quarter. Obtainable everywhere.

to have the actual charges against the diplomatic officials made known.
The German government, so these government agents assert, has already been informed of all the facts in the attaches' cases, and no further steps will be taken in their behalf.

Meanwhile officials of the department of justice are busy preparing reports of evidence and documents gathered throughout the country upon which will be based demands for the recall of many other German agents in America. It is confidently stated that Boy-Ed and Von Papen will not be alone in their departure.

The arrest in San Francisco of Baron Von Bricken, who claims, to be connected with the office of the German consul general there, is regarded here as one of the most important made in several weeks. The baron, according to the information here, was a prominent figure in the plans of C. C. Crowley, arrested in the same city, charged with plots against munition factories. More arrests are to be made in the Crowley case and important developments are looked for when all the witnesses the government is seeking reach San Francisco and give their testimony.

WEEKLY WAR REVIEW

The fall of Monastir in southern Serbia was an event of the week ending Dec. 5. German, Austrian and Bulgarian officers entered the city and raised the flags of their respective nations. The principal task of the Teutonic troops at present seems to be the rounding up of isolated units of the defeated Serbian army. Berlin reporting the capture of several thousands of Serbian soldiers as the result of mountain fights. Detachments of the main Serbian army that escaped into Montenegro have joined the Montenegrin forces that are now resisting the Austrian advance into that country. It is expected that the Bulgarians, who announced the completion of their operations against Serbia, will next turn their attention to the Anglo-French troops in southern Serbia.

British troops under General Townsend, which have been operating in Mesopotamia, with the city of Bagdad as their objective, are now in full retreat after their defeat at Ctesiphon.
They are falling back upon Kut-el-Amara, 80 miles southeast of Ctesiphon, closely pursued by the Turks, who greatly outnumber the invaders. The British will await reinforcements at Kut-el-Amara.

Allied warships continued the bombardment of Turkish positions in the Dardanelles, but Constantinople claims nothing of advantage was gained by these attacks. The Austrians and Italians in the Gorizia district continued their desperate fighting.

Artillery duels featured the week on the western front. On the eastern front nothing of moment was reported by the belligerents.

Requisition of the steamers Hocking and Genesee of the American Transatlantic company by the British government moved Secretary of State Lansing to send a note to London demanding an explanation. It is expected a protest will be sent to England, but Secretary Lansing wants to know before determining its form the grounds upon which Great Britain expects to justify its action.

TO MEET IN MIDDLE WEST

Chicago and St. Louis May Get the Big Political Conventions.
Washington, Dec. 6.—The two great national political conventions of 1916 will go to middle western cities. With more than a score of members of the Democratic national committee in town for the meeting tomorrow, and with the vanguard of the Republican national committee, which will meet a week later, already on the ground, it has developed that the leaders of both parties have dismissed from consideration all cities applying for the big quadrennial shows except Chicago and St. Louis.

Indications are that St. Louis will be awarded the Democratic convention and that the Republican convention will go to Chicago. St. Louis and Chicago boomers are here in force, each party armed with a check for $200,000, which provides for a bid of $100,000 for each convention. There seems to be an understanding that if St. Louis is awarded the Democratic convention it will withdraw from the race for the Republican affair; Chicago to do likewise if it is the successful bidder before the Democratic national committee.

The Democratic convention will meet the middle of June. There appears to be a strong sentiment favorable to the selection of a date about June 15. William F. McCoombs will be re-elected national chairman.

Italian Government Sustained.
Rome, Dec. 6.—The Italian parliament gave a vote of confidence to the Salandra ministry, the vote standing 405 in favor of the government to 48 against it. The dissenting votes were cast by the Socialists, including a son-in-law of ex-Premier Giolitti, who has been opposed to the war with Austria from the first.

Turks Pursuing British.
Constantinople, Dec. 6.—The Turkish war office announced that the pursuit of the British force which was defeated at Ctesiphon while trying to reach Bagdad continues, and that the British are retreating in disorder. It also tells of the capture of a tugboat and a provision and munition ship
on the Tigris.

CHRISTMAS GIVING.

The holiday season is here, men and women are racking their brains to decide what to give those who have happy expectations. It would seem as if after many years of experience the repeated Christmas season would find this problem easier of solution, but the fact is, it becomes more difficult every year. Some how or other we do not seem to have the same boys and girls that we used to have. Youth has gone out of fashion, and the young children jump from babyhood into womanhood and manhood. Children in our mothers' days rejoiced with the possession of a few things at Christmas time and derived no end of fun from their few presents; but it is not so with the modern youths who are never satisfied with a small number of gifts but clamor for more.

These Christmas remembrances bring as much happiness to those who give them as it does to those who receive them. It isn't what you give and the amount of the gift that brings happiness to you and others, but the way you give it and the way it is received. People should give gifts that are within the means of the giver and within the capacity of the receiver to enjoy. The blessedness of giving is more apparent in the simple than in the elaborate gift.

So one might impress upon the minds of a Christmas community to bear in mind the transcendent beauty of the old time method of celebrating the Christmas tide in which Love and Peace and good will reigned supreme.

THE WHITE PLAGUE IN KENTUCKY.

The Kentucky Tuberculosis Commission is planning an active legislative campaign to secure from the next session a bill of larger scope than the present. There are 30,000 cases of tuberculosis in the State, and only 210 institutional beds for the care of these—this seems sufficient justification for an active campaign. On December 12, "Tuberculosis Sunday," all ministers of the gospel will be asked to present the subject from their pulpits.

Some of the facts to which attention is called by the Tuberculosis Commission are that statistics from the State that more people die every year from tuberculosis in its various forms in the State than from any other disease, with all suicides and murders thrown in. Between 5,000 and 6,000 of our population die annually from consumption. Kentucky stands third among the States of the Union in the proportion of deaths per hundred thousand from tuberculosis.

Ignorance among the people in regard to the causation and prevention of the great white plague is one of the principal causes of its prevalence in the State. Col. Mans says: "Kentucky should provide two State institutions, one for white and one for colored, capable of caring for 500 cases each. Young men and women suffering from the disease should be sent to such institutions, where their lives could be spared, if taken in time. Besides these young people could be given the benefits of an industrial education at such institutions during their convalescence, which would enable them to become more useful citizens on their return home."

The only way Kentucky can eradicate tuberculosis is through the education of the masses.

Do not let Louisville or Owensboro get all the Christmas trade. Home is the rose between two thorns when it comes to Christmas shopping. Shop at home and save money.

Cloverport is a generous town. Besides personal and local charity, large mission boxes have been sent away this fall.

Good roads work is going on at Webster. That is a fine community and good roads will make it still better.

Just two more Breckenridge News days till Christmas.

CAPTURING A GIRAFFE.

The Animal Is Too Fragile to Snare in Traps or Pitfalls.

Perhaps you have often wondered about the scarcity of giraffes in public zoos. The reason that only a very few menageries can boast of this exhibit is on account of the difficulty in capturing and transporting them.

The long legged and long necked animal, keen of eye and nose and ear, can see, smell and hear a hunter miles away. Hunters cannot employ traps and pitfalls against him. His fragile legs would be crushed in a trap, and both his legs and neck would be broken in a pitfall.

There is only one way to capture a giraffe alive. He must be surrounded and chased until from sheer weariness he staggers helplessly into a bamboo inclosure.

Peril lies in shipping the giraffe for his voyage over the sea. The giraffe's legs break very easily. If he slips the fragile underpinnings double under him and snap. In transferring the animal from shore to ship his long, helpless neck may become tangled in the tackle or strike a spar, mast or shroud, in which event it's all over with Mr. Giraffe.—Chicago Herald.

Won't Be Restored to Denmark.

London, Nov. 29.—The Royal Prussian president of Schleswig-Holstein, Herr Von Moltke, issued an official statement to the effect that the prevalent rumors that the Danish portion of Schleswig will be restored to Denmark after the war are unfounded. Herr Von Moltke declares that if reports are being spread by persons banking upon the victory of the allies, it is sufficient to point to the present position of the military operations.

AUSTRIA GIVES ANCONA REPORT

Assumes Responsibility For Ship's Loss.

NEW ISSUE RAISED WITH U. S.

Government May Protest Ship Was Destroyed Before All Her Passengers and Crew Had Left Her—Declares Liner Fled.

Washington, Nov. 15.—The Italian liner Ancona case, which has been puzzling the department of state ever since she was torpedoed in the Mediterranean, was presented in still another light with the issuance of a statement by the Austro-Hungarian embassy, giving the official account of the destruction of the liner.

While the Austro-Hungarian statement, if accepted as correct, disposes of the question as to whether the Ancona was warned before being attacked, it raises still another issue in which the United States may prove to be vitally concerned. If it is shown that any Americans were killed by the actual torpedoing of the Ancona, it is believed the United States will protest on the ground that the vessel was torpedoed before all her passengers and crew had left her. The statement follows:

"The submarine fired one shot in front of Ancona's prow, whereupon the steamer fled at full speed, in accordance with the order issued by the Italian authorities, which instructs ship commanders to flee or to sink the submarine. The submarine pursued the steamer and continued firing, but the vessel stopped only after being hit several times.

"The submarine allowed forty-five minutes for the passengers and crew to abandon the steamer on board of which panic reigned, but only a small number of boats were lowered and these were occupied principally by the crew.

"A great number of the boats, probably sufficient to save all the passengers, remained unoccupied.

"After a period of fifty minutes and as another steamer was approaching the submarine submerged and torpedoed the Ancona, which sank after an additional forty-five minutes.

"If any of the passengers lost their lives this was due to the fault of the crew, because the steamer tried to escape after it had received orders to stop, and then the crew only saved themselves and not the passengers.

"Reports published in the foreign press that the submarine fired on the Ancona's lifeboats are mendacious inventions.

NEGRO IS HANGED BY MOB

Victim Is Identified as Assailant of White Girl.

Henderson, Ky. (Special): Forty masked men forced an entrance to the cell of Ellis Buckner, negro, twenty-four years old, in the county jail. They took him to the river front, three blocks away, and hanged him to a willow tree in a lonely spot. The victim was charged with an attempt to assault Miss Annie Hardin, a white girl.

Early in the morning the mob, according to Henderson police, formed suddenly in front of the jail and demanded entrance. Arizona Grayson, deputy sheriff, and the jailers were the only ones in the jail. The mob threatened to batter down the door and wreck vengeance on the officers, the police say, and the doors were opened. Then the mob demanded that the corridor and cell door be opened.

The negro was dragged to the foot of Powell street and hanged, a rope being thrown across the limb of a willow tree there. Chief of Police Graves located the body during the day and cut it down. Henderson police say Buckner had been in trouble before.

Miss Hardin, who is employed in a bakery, was on her way home at night after business hours, when she was seized at the mouth of an alley and dragged into the darkness. Her screams brought help and the negro ran. She gave a good description of him and Buckner was arrested by the police half an hour later. Miss Hardin went to the station and positively identified him.

Police here say they are endeavoring to learn the identity of members of the mob, but aver that the handkerchiefs the men had tied around their faces will make this difficult.

Conspiracy to Obstruct Passage of Mail Is Charged.

Fairmount, W. Va. (Special): Twenty-two arrests have been made here on charges growing out of the strike of clerks and carriers at the local postoffice as a protest against the dismissal of W. H. Robertson, a government postoffice inspector.

Two defendants waived preliminary hearing and permitted their cases to go before the next federal grand jury, which will convene at Parkersburg on Jan. 11. Preliminary hearings will be given the twenty men. The bond for Brand was fixed at $1,000. The others provided $500 bond.

AERIAL BATTLE IN BELGIUM

Germans Lose Heavily in Clash With the French.

Paris, Nov. 29.—Squadrons of German and allied aeroplanes fought extensively over Belgium and a French airman, who started in pursuit of an enemy squadron brought down a German machine which fell into the sea off west Ende-Bains. A German torpedo boat and German motorboats went to the rescue of the aviators and there followed a fight over the sea in which hydroaeroplanes of the allies and French artillery took part.

One of the German motor boats was sunk in this combat.

A squadron of ten French aeroplanes bombarded the hangars at Habistro, dropping bombs and setting fire to the German hangars.

The summary of the aeroplane activity shows that one German motor boat was sunk and that seven German aeroplanes and two balloons were brought down or damaged.

LAHOMA

BRECKENRIDGE

CHAPTER XVI.

"Will you marry me?"

FOR hours Wilfred sat opposite, staring at Lahoma's worn face, pathetic in its youthful roundness, from which the bloom had vanished, wondering at her grace, beauty, helplessness and perfect faith in him. That faith revealed itself in every line of the form lying along the seat and spoke from the unconscious face from which the brown hair was outspread to dry.

How oddly her voice had sounded! How strange had been its accent when she said, "It never entered my mind that I was the little girl!" Had she been sorry for the thought to come? Did she think less of him because he had not remained true to Annabel? Would it not have been far better to wait until reaching their destination before hinting of love? Even while perplexed over these problems and while charmed by that appealing face, with the softly parted lips, by the figure that stirred in the rhythm of slumber, other thoughts, other objects weighed upon him—the two dead men, the dead horse just outside. One of those men might be Red Kimball.

Armed and watchful, Wilfred waited through the hours. When no longer able to bear the uncertainty he crept from the stage with the lantern and examined the recent scene of a furious struggle. There were only two slain—the driver and one of Red Kimball's companions. Either Kimball and his other comrade had escaped or had been captured. If any of the attacking party had fallen the bodies had been borne away. Bloodstains indicated that more than two had been shot. From that ghastly sight it was a relief to find himself once more inclosed by the coach walls with Lahoma so peacefully sleeping.

Once he fell into a doze from which he was startled by the impression that soft noises, not of wind or rain, were creeping over the earth. He sat erect, with the confused fancy that wolves were slinking among the wheels, were glaring up at the windows, were dragging away the corpses. The sudden movement of his hand as it grasped his pistol awoke Lahoma.

She opened her eyes wide, but did not lift her cheek from the arm that lay along the cushion. "There you are," she said, "just as I was dreaming."

He pretended not to be uneasy, but his ears strained to catch the meaning of those mysterious movements of the night. Her voice cut across the vague murmur of the open plain:

"You only came once!"

Although her eyes were wide, she was apparently but half awake. Not a muscle moved as she looked into his face. "I thought," she murmured, "it was on account of Annabel."

"I went away because I loved you," he answered softly. "I promised Brick

"There you are!" she said.

I'd go if I felt myself caring, and nobody could help caring for you. That's why I left the country. Just as soon as we laughed together—it happened. That's why I didn't come again."

"Yes," sighed Lahoma, as if it was not so hard to understand now.

"And that's why I've come back," he added. "Because I've kept on loving you."

"Yes," she sighed again. She closed her eyes and seemed to fall asleep. Perhaps it was a sort of knowing sleep that lost most of the world, but clung tenaciously to a few ideas. The noises of the night died away. Presently he heard her murmur as a little smile crept about the parted lips. "The cove's pretty big—there's more room than I thought."

When she was wide awake daylight had slipped through the windows. "Oh, Wilfred!" she exclaimed, sitting suddenly erect and putting her hands to her head mechanically. "Is—are we all right?"

"All right," said the young man cheerily. "There's a good deal of snow on the ground, but it was blown off the trail for the most part. Some friends have provided us with the means of going forward."

"But I don't understand."

"We finish the sandwiches and melt some snow for water and then mount. Look—see those two Indian ponies fastened to the tongue of the stage? They'll carry us to the next station like the wind."

She stared from the window, bewildered.

"I don't know any more about them than you," he answered her thoughts. "But there they are and here we are." He said nothing about the bodies evidently carried away by those who had brought the ponies. "It's all a mystery—a mystery of the plains. I haven't unraveled the very first thread of it. What's the use? The western way is to take what comes, isn't it, whether northers or ponies? There's a much bigger mystery than all that filling my mind."

"What is that?"

"You."

She bent over the sandwich with heightened color. "Poor Brick!" she murmured, as if to divert his thoughts. But his sympathy just then was not for Brick.

"Lahoma, you said that this is a subject a man should bring up."

She looked at him brightly, still flushing. "Well?"

"I'm bringing it up, Lahoma."

"But we must be planning to save Brick from arrest."

"I'm hoping we'll get home in time. Note that I say home, Lahoma. I refer to the cove. I'm hoping we'll reach home in time to forestall Red Kimball. We've lost a great deal of time, but Brick doubtless is safely hiding. And when we get to the journey's end—Lahoma, do you know what naturally comes at the journey's end?"

"No."

"A marriage."

"I thought that was what you meant."

"Will you marry me at the journey's end?"

Lahoma turned very red and laid down the sandwich. Then she laughed. Then she started up. "Let's get on the ponies!" she cried.

The snow that morning lay in drifts from five to eight inches across the trail and to the height of several feet up against those rock walls, raising, as on vast artificial tables, the higher stretches of the Kiowa country. But by noon the plain was scarcely streaked with white, and when the sun set there was nothing to suggest that a snowflake had ever fallen in that sand strewn world. When the rude cabins and hasty tents of the last stage station in Greer county showed dark and white against the horizon of a springlike morning Wilfred cried exultantly:

"The end of the journey!"

And Lahoma, suddenly showing in her cheeks all the roses that had opened in her dreams, repeated gayly, yet a little brokenly:

"The end of the journey!"

The end of the journey meant a wedding. The plains blossom with endless flower gardens and the mountains sing together when the end of the journey means a wedding.

Leaving Lahoma at the small new hotel, from whose boards the sun began boiling out resin as soon as it was well aloft, Wilfred hurried after a fresh horse to carry him at once to the cove, ten miles away. Warning must be given to Brick Willock first of all. Lahoma even had a wild hope that Brick might devise some means whereby he could attend the wedding without danger of arrest, but to Wilfred this seemed impossible.

He had gone but a few steps from the hotel when he came face to face with the sheriff of Greer county. Cutting short his old friend's outburst of pleasure—

"Look here, Miz-zoo," said Wilfred, drawing him aside from the curious throng on the sidewalk, "have you got a warrant against Brick Willock?"

Mizzoo tapped his breast. "Here!" he said. "Know where he is?"

Wilfred sighed with relief. "At any rate, you don't!" he cried.

"No use riding over to the cove," remarked his friend, with a grin. "That is, unless you want to call on some friends of mine—deputies. They're living in the dugout, just laying for Brick to show himself."

"But, Miz-zoo," expostulated Wilfred, "why are you taking so much trouble against my best friend? The warrant ought to be enough, and if you can't get a chance to serve it on him that's not your fault. Your deputies haven't any right in that cove, and I'm going to smoke 'em out."

Mizzoo chewed, with a deprecatory shake of his head. "See here, old tap," he murmured, "don't you say nothing about being Brick Willock's friend. The whole country is roused against him. Heard of them three bodies?"

Wilfred explained that he had just come to town.

"Well, good Lord, then, the pleasure I'm going to have in telling you something you don't know and something that's full of meat! Let's go where we can sit down—this ain't no standing news." The lank, red faced sheriff started across the street without looking to see if he were followed.

He did not stop till he was in his room at the hotel. "Now," he said, locking the door, "sit down. Yes, you bet, I got a warrant against Brick Willock! It was sworn out by a fellow named Jeremiah Kimball. You know him as 'Red.' The form's regular, charges weighty. Brick Willock was once a member of Red Kimball's gang. He's the only one that didn't come in to get his amnesty. See? Well, he killed Red's brother—shot 'im. Gledware's coming on to witness it. Willock will claim he done the deed to save Gledware's life—his and his little gal's. But Gledware will show it was otherwise. Red told me all about it. Brick's a murderer, and, worst of all, he's a murderer without an amnesty—that's the only difference between him and Red. Well, old tap, I took my oath to do my duty. You know what that signifies."

"But there's no truth in all this rot. Brick had to shoot Kansas Kimball!"

"Well, let him show that in court. My business is to take him alive. That ain't all; that's just the preface. Listen. If you'll believe me the stage that Red and his pals was in—coming here to swear out the warrant, they was—that there stage was set on by this friend of yours. Yes, Brick has gathered together some of his old pals and is a highwayman. Why, he shot one of Red's witnesses, and he shot the driver!"

"I know something about that hold-up," cried Wilfred scornfully. "It must have been done by Indians."

"Red saw Brick among the gang. He recognized him. Well, Red and his other pard gets on horses they cuts loose and comes like lightning and gets here and tells the story, and maybe you think this community ain't a-rearing and a-charging and a-sniffing for blood! There'd be more excitement against Brick Willock if there was more community, but such as they is is concentrated."

"Mizzoo, listen to reason. Don't you understand that Red wants revenge and has misrepresented this Indian attack to tally with his other lies?"

"I wouldn't say nothing against Red, old tap. It ain't gentlemanly to call dead folk liars."

"Dead folk!" echoed Wilfred, starting up.

"I knowed you didn't understand that Red's off the trail forever." Miz-zoo rejoined gently. "I knowed you wouldn't be accusing him so rancid had you been posted on his funeral."

Wilfred felt a great relief, then a great wonder.

"Yes, he's dead. I don't say he's better off—I don't know—but I guess the world is. I don't like to censure them that's departed. Brick Willock is still with us, and him the county can't say enough against. His life wouldn't be worth two bits if anybody laid eyes on 'im. Consider his high handed doings. Wasn't it enough in the past to kill Red's brother, but what he must needs collect his pals, stop the stage-coach, shoot two men trying to get Red, and one of 'em the innocent driver? You say yes. But hold on. That ain't all he done. No, sir. The very next day after Red swore out that warrant—and it was yesterday, if you ask me—what is saw when we men of Mangum comes out of our doors? Three corpses lying on the sidewalk side by side. You say what corpses? Wait. I'm coming to that. One was that driver, one was the pard that got shot with the driver, the other was Red Kimball his own self."

"I knew the bodies had been carried away from the trail," exclaimed Wilfred in perplexity.

"But you didn't know they had been brung to town all this distance to be laid beside Red. You didn't know Red had been stabbed so he could be added too. You didn't know the three of them had been left on the street to rile up every man with blood in his veins. Why, Wilfred, it's an insult to the whole state of Texas. Such highhanded doings ain't to be bore. If Brick Willock don't want to be tried in court, is that an excuse for killing off all that might witness against him? It might of been once. But we're determined to have a county of law abiding citizens. Such free living has got to be nipped in the bud or we'll have another No Man's Land. I am the—er—as sheriff of Greer county I am a—am the angel of civilization, you may say."

DOMINION GRAIN TRADE STOPPED

Commandeering Wheat Para- lyzes Business.

MANIFEST GREAT ANXIETY

Prediction Made Order Will Cause
Ruin of Many Grain Houses—Object
Said to Put Stop to Speculative Prices to Supply Italian Government.

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 29.—Grain men say that the grain trade of the Dominion is paralyzed as the result of the commandeering by the government of all Nos. 1, 2 and 3 northern wheat in the terminal elevators at Ft.
William and Port Arthur and in eastern terminals. Some 20,000,000 bushels of wheat have been taken and it is reported that the seizure will extend to other parts of Canada.

It is understood that the action was taken at the request of the British government. In a statement made public by the government it is said the object of the extraordinary order is to put a stop to speculative prices so that real orders from England for the Italian government. Prices for the wheat is yet to be determined.

The government order also brought a sudden stop to the loading of vessels in the harbors. Among the ships affected were the two largest of the great lakes, the Morden and Snyder, Jr., which have a capacity of 450,000 bushels each. All inspection and weighing also have ceased. The order seizing all grains in boats in harbors was modified, so that eight vessels, partially loaded, will be permitted to proceed to lower lake ports.

So far the farmers are unaffected, but as there is uncertainty as to the length to which the Dominion government, at the instance of the mother government, may go, grain men make no attempt to conceal their anxiety.
They have many important orders to fill before the end of the month and as only a few days remain before the expiration of these trade agreements, anxiety is great.

The grain men are disconcerted because no previous knowledge of the government's intention had been given them. The seizures were made only a short time before midnight, and information was conveyed to dealers here in telegraphic messages from agents at points at the heads of the lakes. These messages contained the information that railway companies having thousands of loaded cars in various yards had been forbidden to unload.

The assurance that the government does not contemplate the seizure of grain now in the elevators of western Canada, or under the control of farmers, relieved the anxiety of the grain men somewhat, but the prediction is made that, nevertheless, the action will cause the ruin of many grain houses.

It is understood that there remains 150,000,000 bushels of wheat for sale in western Canada.

Announcement from Breckinridge Loose Leaf Tobacco Warehouse Co.

By reason of the fact that the rainy weather of the past had very little effect on the tobacco in the way of softening it for stripping, we have postponed the opening of our floor until next

Monday, December 6th and will Have the First Sale on Saturday, December 11th

With the setting in of a more pleasant weather it is expected that the crop soon will be in a position to put on the market, and there is no danger, it is believed, of there not being an ample amount of the product on the floor for the opening sale December 11th.

By the late seasons we have every reason to believe that the growers will take more care in getting their product classed for the sales. We are certain that this would pay very largely and inure greatly to the benefit of both the grower and the warehouseman.
